Talybont Community Orchard

It's almost ten years since the Talybont Community Orchard was instigated and the Orchard Trail mapped out – and there's much to celebrate!

A mixture of heritage variety apples and pears were originally planted, with subsequent fruit freely available for any member of the community to pick. Almost all the trees are from Wales and the Welsh Marches – eaters, cookers, cider apples and perry pears. And a new, easy 3km circular orchard trail was created – linking the four planting clusters using existing pathways plus a permitted route through Gilestone Farm and woods. This is now very well used by locals and visitors alike. More information, a map and planting plans are available on the Community Council website at the 'Community', 'Our Orchard' tab.

In breaking news, we are chuffed to have just been awarded a small grant by the Community Council and Talybont Energy to introduce to our orchard the only surviving plum variety native to Wales, as well as to undertake improvements to the Orchard Trail.

Creating a Welcome in Talybont: Another Community Effort to be Proud Of

A huge thank you to everyone who played a part in the Refugee Welcome Day at Henderson Hall on Sunday, July 26th. The third to date, it was a great success due to a fantastic team effort and so many people from the community getting involved. The event showcased the very best of community spirit with local organisations, businesses and volunteers working together to create a day of hospitality, friendship and hope where everyone felt valued and welcome.

Visitors of all ages enjoyed a packed programme of creative and outdoor activities, whilst behind the scenes members of the Henderson Hall Committee, alongside Hay, Brecon and Talgarth Sanctuary for Refugees (HBTSR) volunteers, worked tirelessly to ensure every guest was well cared for. As the day came to an end volunteers and visitors worked together to tidy the hall before the coach departed, carrying not only food, flowers and gifts, but also treasured memories and new friendships. The happy smiling faces and the grateful thanks said it all: “Everything was amazing … The place was beautiful … Everyone was so friendly and welcoming … The food was excellent … Thank you so much for your kindness and hospitality … It was the best Welcome Day ever!”

Community thanks to Members of Henderson Hall Committee and Talybont WI, the White Hart Inn, the Royal Oak, Talybont Shop and Post Office, Chas of Talybont Market Garden, Tom of Talybont Ospreys Cricket Club, all those within the community who donated food, flowers, gifts and practical support, Rhiannon Davies of HBTSR for planning and organising the day, and Beacons Benefice for generously funding.

Our updated Community Council website
Visitors to talybont.org will have noticed a new appearance. We have moved to a new provider to reduce costs and improve user experience. We are also updating the site to make local and Council information simpler to find. Please bear with us while the remaining pages and extensive work behind the scenes are completed. We welcome any feedback and suggestions.

Have your say on local health services
The Community Council feels strongly about the importance of protecting accessible, high-quality health services for everyone in our community and across Powys. We therefore urge residents to take part in Powys Teaching Health Board's Better Together consultation. These proposals concern services we all rely upon, so please take time to read them, ask questions and make your views known. The consultation runs until 10th January 2027, covering proposals for adult physical and mental health services, urgent care and some diagnostic services. Local drop-in events include:

Thursday 5th November: Wellington Hotel, Brecon, LD3 7AD
Thursday 12th November: Talgarth Town Hall, LD3 0AF

Both run from 2pm to 7pm, with no need to attend for the whole session. Visit pthb.nhs.wales/BetterTogether to read the proposals, complete a questionnaire, request a printed copy or find details of online events and information in alternative formats. If you cannot attend an event and would like to share your concerns with the Community Council, please contact talybontcc@gmail.com

Road safety: the A40 and Station Road
Councillors met police on 2nd October to discuss road safety on the A40, including concerns about speeding motor-cycles and safety around the picnic lay-by between Llansantffraed and Bwlch following the recent fatal collision. We remain concerned that the wider speeding issues require further attention. The Council intends to pursue these concerns with senior police representatives, the Police and Crime Commissioner and our County Councillor, seeking practical measures to improve safety.

Within Talybont village, speeding on Station Road remains a particular concern. The Council has agreed to take up the police offer of community speed checks and to develop proposals for an online and paper petition. We will also continue pressing the highway authority to consider appropriate traffic-calming measures. Details of how residents can support this work will follow once arrangements are confirmed.

Repairs and safety at Talybont Reservoir
The Community Council is pursuing repairs around the reservoir dam following damage to stonework caused by forestry vehicles, alongside concerns about deteriorating wooden fencing beside the roadside parking area. Our Clerk, Clare Preece, has raised these matters with Dŵr Cymru Welsh Water. Welsh Water has advised that it intends to meet a contractor on site to assess the damaged wall and obtain a quotation for replacing the fencing. The Council is following up to seek a clear timetable for the necessary work. We want to ensure that this much-valued area is properly maintained and safe for residents and visitors.

Scethrog bench refurbishment
We are pleased to report the completion of the Scethrog bench refurbishment, supported by the Talybont Energy grant fund. Councillors welcomed the excellent work and would like to thank everyone involved in restoring this valued community amenity.

Improving litter and recycling provision
The Community Council has been working with representatives of Powys County Council and Henderson Hall to improve litter collection and recycling provision around the village and canal. Our discussions have focused on suitable bin locations, reliable emptying arrangements and the pressures created by busy periods and visitor numbers. We welcome the progress made, including Powys taking on more of the bin-emptying duties previously carried out by local volunteers. We are grateful to those volunteers and the Henderson Hall team for their continuing efforts to keep our community clean and welcoming.

Our wider work continues: bins need to be accessible without obstructing paths, emptied reliably and supported by clear information about recycling. Residents can help by reporting overflowing bins or recurring litter problems to the Clerk at talybontcc@gmail.com, giving the location and, where possible, a photograph.

Supporting Henderson Hall's public facilities

The Community Council is working with the Henderson Hall Committee to explore ways of funding and sustaining the toilets and other facilities at the Hall. Following the loss of the Powys County Council-run public conveniences, the Hall's toilets have become the only public toilet facilities available to visitors in the immediate area. This places a considerable responsibility on the Hall Committee, with ongoing cleaning, maintenance and running costs.

Unfortunately, Powys County Council has advised that it cannot provide financial support. We are therefore supporting the Hall Committee in exploring funding opportunities and practical ways to generate income to help keep these valued facilities available. We thank the Committee and volunteers for their continuing work in providing services that benefit residents, visitors and local businesses.

Parking, signage and support for local services

The Community Council is pressing Powys County Council to progress the agreed village parking restrictions and provide a clear timetable for implementation. We are also seeking attention to outstanding road markings and signage, with the aim of improving safety, protecting access and reducing difficulties for residents. Visitors make an important contribution to our local economy, but increasing tourism also places demands on parking, public facilities and village maintenance. We want arrangements that welcome visitors while respecting the needs of those who live here.

Alongside this work, we are exploring grant funding and working with local partners to help sustain facilities and services previously supported by Powys County Council. Our aim is to protect valued amenities while keeping the financial and practical burden on our community manageable.

Strengthening our relationship with the National Park

Council representatives met the Chair and senior planning officials of Bannau Brycheiniog National Park Authority to discuss better communication and the importance of giving proper consideration to Community Councils' views on planning matters. We stressed that local councillors bring valuable knowledge of the communities they represent and need clear feedback on the concerns they raise. The meeting was constructive, with agreement to hold regular three-monthly liaison meetings. We welcome this opportunity to build a closer working relationship and help ensure residents' voices are heard.

Preparing for emergencies

The Council is actively considering how our community can be better prepared for emergencies, including severe weather, flooding and prolonged power cuts. A joint briefing for Talybont-on-Usk and Cwmdu Councillors is arranged for 12th November, with input from a civil contingencies officer. Its purpose is to help us develop practical local emergency arrangements, improve coordination and consider how best to support residents, particularly those who may need additional help. We will share further information as this work develops, including opportunities for residents to contribute.

Aberfan: 60 years on

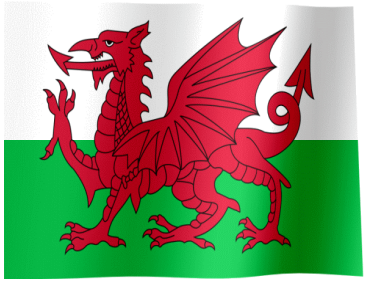

On 21st October 1966, 144 people, including 116 children, lost their lives when a colliery spoil tip collapsed onto the village of Aberfan, engulfing homes and part of Pantglas Junior School just as morning classes began. It remains one of the most devastating tragedies in Welsh history.

The farming communities of this area have family connections with the mining communities of the South Wales Valleys, through those who left the land to earn their living in the collieries. These ties form part of our shared Welsh history and give this anniversary a particular resonance here. As Wales marks this significant anniversary, we at Talybont Community Council remember those who were lost, honour the survivors and families whose lives were changed forever, and recognise the strength of the Aberfan community over the past 60 years.

Keeping in touch

Our next Council meeting is on Wednesday 18th November. Please see the new Council website and published agenda for meeting details. Residents are welcome to contact the Clerk at talybontcc@gmail.com about local matters they would like the Council to consider.

WELSH LEARNERS' CORNER
CORNEL Y CYMRAEG

Croeso (Welcome) – Dych chi'n dysgu Cymraeg? (Are you learning Welsh?) Or Dych chi'n rhugl (fluent) yn Gymraeg? All levels welcome!

Croseo cynnes i chi i ymuno â ni yn Y Hydd Gwyn bob bore Gwener 10.30am-12.00pm. (A warm welcome to you to join us in the White Hart, Talybont every Friday morning).

Dyma rhai o frawddegau i chi i ymarfer (here are some sentences for you to practise) – come along and try them out at our morning sessions in the White Hart:

Mae dau gi gyda fi – My-die-gee-gur-da-vee – I have two dogs [Lit: Two dogs with me].
Oes ci gyda ti? – Oi-ss-key-gur-da-tee? – Do you have a dog?
Oes, mae dau gi bach gyda fi – Oi-ss, -my-die-gee-ba-ch ['ch' as in loch] -gur-da-fee – Yes, I have two little dogs.
Nac oes, does dim ci gyda fi – Nag-oi-ss-doi-ss-dim-key-gur-da-vee – No, I don't have a dog.
Oes ci gyda nhw? – Oi-ss-key-gur-da-n-hoo? – Do they have a dog?

Oes cath fach gyda nhw? – Oi-ss-ca-th-fa-ch-gur-da-nhw? – Do they have a little cat?
Oes mae dwy gath fach gyda nhw – Oi-ss-my-doi-ga-th-fa-ch-gur-da-n-hoo – Yes, they have two little cats.
Nac oes does dim cath fach gyda nhw – Nag-oi-ss, -doi-ss-dim-ca-th-fa-th-gur-da-n-hoo – No, they don't have two little cats.
Ond mae ci bach gyda nhw – On-d-my-key-ba-ch-gur-da-n-hoo – But, they have a little dog.
Oes anifeiliaid anwes gyda chi? – Oi-ss-an-ee-veil-ee-eye-d-an-wes-gur-da-ch-ee? – Do you have pets?

For those that are interested in the grammar, there is always a soft mutation after the number two – dau gi – dwy gath.

Use the feminine numbers with a feminine noun! 'Dau gi' – but 'Dwy gath' (Cath is a feminine noun).

Gobeithio, dych chi'n mwynhau! – Hopefully you are enjoying and hopefully we will see you in the White Hart one day!

Diolch yn fawr iawn

Remembering Our Flooded Valley

Submerging of the original Reservoir Houses 1938, Talybont Reservoir

Talybont Reservoir is a place to visit, particularly for a walk across the dam. Somewhere to enjoy the quiet peace and beauty of the valley, but how often do our thoughts turn to the families who once lived there? There are the remains of 17 farms and dwellings under the water, as inhabitants were forced to move out to make way for a water supply for Newport. The Reservoir was opened in 1939 and is still providing water for the city.

Talybont WI want to erect an information board naming all the homes that were lost. Many of them were tenanted, with the land owners receiving the most compensation. Several other Welsh reservoirs have commemorations to the villages that were displaced and Talybont WI feel it is time to acknowledge our small, past community. We have the endorsement of Welsh Water with a donation, and a generous sum from Talybont Energy, but we still need to fundraise. If you would like to help in this endeavour by giving a donation, however small, please give to a WI member or via a BACs transfer to:

Talybont & District WI

The members of the WI feel this is a worthwhile project and are grateful for your support.

Talybont on Usk and District WI

Although August is a month off for Talybont WI, ladies were kept busy baking to provide teas and cakes for our Annual Village Show. The day dawned wet and spirits sank, however the sun managed to come out and once again good sales were made on the day, and the judges were well fed for their efforts in the morning.

September we welcomed Josh Rodden from Wales Gene Park. He was an interesting speaker who had many roles before he found his way into science. These included working as a butcher, delivering parcels and being a barista. His way into the sector was through the Science Discovery Centre in Wrexham. He went on to talk about how we can understand our ancestry and looked at how genetics has added a powerful new layer to our understanding of where we come from. He talked about the components of DNA and the pros and cons of the different testing kits. It was a fascinating talk.

Yvonne Jones from Talybont was our speaker in October. She spoke to us about her love of Self-Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus (Scuba) diving and how it began. Training started in Brecon swimming pool and then progressed to West Wales, where Yvonne became more confident. She has completed over 160 dives in amazing places, including the Red Sea, Thailand and Gozo, and is planning her next one in Japan. Her talk was illustrated with photos she took with her underwater camera, which showed colourful and interesting sea life and wrecks. We were all in awe of her experiences and courage to excel in this hobby.

November is our AGM when the process of planning the New Year's programme begins. It's always a jolly evening with cheese and wine. December will be our annual Christmas celebration.

The Friends of Llandetty Church

New Information Panel and Nature Trail

With support from the Friends of Llandetty Church, local people, Bannau Brycheiniog National Park Authority and in memory of Ann Doyle (née Burgess), whose family also supported the project, an information panel and five new nature trail signs have been installed in and around the churchyard.

The new panel gives visitors a brief history of the site and informs them of the key historical features in and around the ancient and unique Grade II Listed building and churchyard. It also highlights the unique natural environment within which the church sits, and encourages visitors to partake in a structured nature trail, details of which are included on the panel.

The trails encourage both local people and visitors to explore the history, wildlife and atmosphere of this remarkable place, looking out for wildflowers, ferns, birds, bats, ancient trees and woodland – and, occasionally, even an otter!

The five trails are linked to the elements: WATER, with the chance of spotting an otter; EARTH, celebrating wildflowers, woodland, fungi and insects; FIRE, reflecting the changing colours of flowers and ferns; AIR, looking upwards to the birds and bats and SPIRIT, focusing on the ancient trees and the church buildings themselves.

Llandetty Church retains the character of a typical medieval church, modest in size and beautiful in its simplicity, with a history dating back to the 13th century, or possibly earlier. Nestled between the River Usk and the Monmouthshire and Brecon canal, its peaceful churchyard has become a haven for wildlife, as well as a wonderful place to pause and enjoy the tranquillity of this special setting. It is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, welcoming both local people and visitors to discover this beautiful and peaceful corner of the Usk Valley.

The boards were designed and supplied by Brecon based graphic design firm Anglezarke Dixon, the oak structures were designed and installed by Talybont based H C Woodturn, and the nature trail was created by a good friend of the church and ecologist, Chris Mahon. The project was wholly funded with a grant and targeted donations, and was conceptualised, initiated and managed by the Friends of Llandetty Church group.

TALYBONT ON USK
ENERGY YNNI
TALYBONT AR WYSG

Talybont Energy enjoyed funding and supervising two student projects over the summer on very different topics. 16 year old students Betsi Craig and Willa-Rose Callender named their project 'Little Acts : Lasting Change'. They organised and ran four events where we learned about and directly experienced small changes we could make in our everyday lives which would reduce energy, improve sustainability and increase resilience. As ever, clothes swapping was the most popular event.

18 year old Osian James' research project interviewed 12 local households on their experience of installing and living with air source heat pumps. Osian gathered this into a very useful report for others in our area who might be considering if a heat pump would work for them. We'd like to thank all those who took part in helping either project and the three students for the fresh energy they brought to our thinking.

With a new focus on food energy and resilience, Talybont Energy and the Church in Wales jointly hosted a harvest celebration in Henderson Hall on 8th October. With 55 tickets sold and about 43 people attending, it was a wonderful evening, though it was sad not to have any young people there. With Huw Morgan demonstrating his apple pressing, the celebration opened with Liz Bramley explaining that this year had a focus on the food system and household energy issues.

The quiz was an engaging and thought provoking way for people to explore issues of food waste, energy used to produce food, resilience, nutrition and more. The highlight was the food, with a focus on very local produce — a venison meal to keep planetary impacts to a minimum, while serving really delicious, seasonal fare. We give special thanks to Mary Shuldham who prepared such an outstanding feast, and of course all those who grew the food and the tireless WI volunteers who helped on the night. There was a lot of enthusiasm to repeat such an event next year, and hopefully in a way which brings the younger generation in too!

Llansantffraed sings for Nepal

A service of hymns and readings was held in Llansantffraed Church on Sunday 18th October to help raise funds for relief work after the two recent devastating floods in Nepal.

Major Khusiman Gurung MVO gave the address. He gave us brief facts about the country, including its links with Wales through Sir George Everest, Surveyor General in India in the early 1800s, whose family home was in Crickhowell. Major Gurung went on to outline some of the results of the terrible events in August. Then on October 12th came news of another flood, much nearer to Dhampus, a town of about 3,000 people twinned with Brecon since 2019. It is the home town of many Nepali people in Brecon, including Major Gurung. Relief and reconstruction is more needed than ever. 'Despite this,' he said, 'Nepal is still a very beautiful country. Its people are resilient and hospitable, and would love to welcome you on a visit.' He expressed his thanks for the invitation to speak at our service, and for our generosity.

The Llansantffraed congregation is very pleased to be able to send £400 to the President of Nepal's Relief Fund via our Twinning Association, and would like to thank everyone for their generosity.

Henderson Hall Harvest Supper

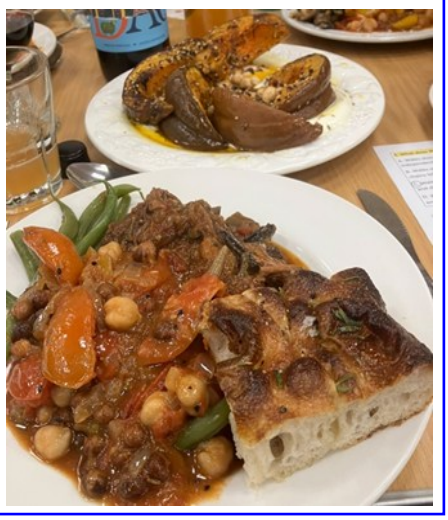

Thanks to very generous support from sponsors Talybont Energy, a magnificent Harvest Supper was prepared and enjoyed by many Talybont residents and their friends. Months in the planning, the event took place on October 9th in a beautifully decorated Henderson Hall.

Before the supper itself, Huw Morgan demonstrated his mobile apple press, much to the delight of those who had come early to see him at work. Fresh apple juice was available throughout the evening. The meal was prepared by Mary Shuldham, from Penpont, who carefully sourced the delicious ingredients and gave us a short talk at the start to explain her choices, which were local and seasonal. Many of the vegetables and fruit came from no further afield than Llangorse and Talybont, and the menu included venison and mixed bean stews, roast pumpkin, mushroom rolls, focaccia bread, with poached pears and hazelnut ice cream as dessert. 'The best harvest supper we have ever had' was a comment heard more than once!

Richard Luff of Talybont Energy set a challenging quiz on all things food. He also provided background information about the way we produce and consume food now, in the spirit of the evening, which was to celebrate the wonderful diversity we have on our doorstep. A huge thank you to everyone involved in planning, preparing and clearing up for this excellent evening.
